

Elephant was coming back from the watering hole and noticed a bird circling above her. After a while the bird landed on her head and whispered something in her large ear. An adventure was coming. "What sort of adventure?" she wondered as she had never had an adventure before.
Well, the very next day she found out when...

